LEWIS ATTACKS NOMINEE SMALL

Kankakee, Ill., Oct. 15.—James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic candidate for governor, last night cast aside his traditional politeness to denounce Leo Small, his Republican rival, in this, Mr. Small's home town. Lewis declared in carefully weighed words that Small's election as governor would be "a stain on the state and an insult to the honor of Illinois."

"I am in the home of my opponent," Mr. Lewis said. "In his presence I repeat what I have charged in many other places and will repeat many times until the election. No man should be governor of Illinois who is the political property of any master. No man should be approved by Illinois voters who owes his selection to fraud at the polls."

Mayor Thompson created Mr. Small as a candidate for the mayor's personal political uses by methods at the polls that destroy states and make anarchy of honest citizens."

This statement was followed by a general appeal to the voters. "You are asked to deliver the state of Illinois to a man who is the candidate of the mayor of Chicago," said Mr. Lewis. "I need not tell you how Mayor Thompson has governed that great city. It is inconceivable that you will ever consent to such action, and the case is in your hands for decision. It is a matter which affects your homes, your families, the administration of the laws, and the defense of your institutions."

Burns Also Speaks. With former Senator Lewis on the platform was Judge James T. Burns, county judge of Cook county and Democratic candidate for attorney general. Kankakee is Judge Burns' home, the county having elected him after his return from the World war, in which he served as a captain of infantry.

The election of Judge Burns as county judge of Kankakee was the result of a revolt of the Republicans of Kankakee county against the small machine, Judge Burns being the first Democrat in years to carry the county. He was selected as county judge of Cook county after his election to the Kankakee bench.

Former Senator Lewis came here from Chicago, where he had spoken in the afternoon of the day before. Today he speaks at Watkinia in the afternoon and in Chicago at night.
